

HOME IS WHERE YOU'RE COOKING: A RECIPE BOOK WHERE FAMILY IS THE MAIN INGREDIENT

By Angel Miele

ABOUT AUTHOR

Angel Miele author of Home is Where You're Cooking is a self-taught home chef who learned a lot of her cooking skills and methods growing up watching her grandmother, mother and aunts cook. Food seemed to be the one thing that has always brought her family together. She wanted to write a cookbook that not only would showcase beautiful, delicious meals but would convey her love for both family and food.

In her free time, when she isn't at her home with family or working on her next project, you can most likely find her at a wine tasting, poolside with a mimosa or on a beach sipping a cocktail. Angel resides in Jacksonville Florida with her husband Chris and three children.

Cooking has always been a way to bring my family together. In my home, sitting down for a meal together is a priority and my favorite part of the day. Cooking has always been more than just cooking for me, it's making memories, bonding and spending time together.

My goal for this book is to get families together in the kitchen and around the table. For everyone to put the phones and electronics down and talk to one another. Preparing ingredients and cooking a dish together is part of the whole experience. Cooking with my children and grandchildren gives me so much joy. So many memories with my children and grandchildren have been made in the kitchen. And it's my hope that after you read this book, you'll be inspired to get in the kitchen with your family, cook a dish and make some memories. It doesn't matter where you are, where you live, what type of home you live in. What matters is that you're together. Family will always be the most important "ingredient" in your household. In your life.
